Pottery Fire Razes Building

A Sierra Madre fireman suffered minor burns in a fire Sunday that partially destroyed the plant of Cheri of California, ceramics manufacturer at 89 E. Montecito.

Marston Blood was burned on both arms fighting the fire which caused damages to a wooden building estimated at $7,500.

Fire Chief Charles Brown said a gas heater used to melt wax was not turned off. The wax caught fire and destroyed a one-story wooden building adjacent to a sheet metal structure. The back wall of the latter portion of the company was melted by the heat.

The fire was reported at 4:25 p.m. Sunday and damage was confined to the one plant. The building is owned by Stewart McCollough, now living in Arizona, who leases it to Cheri of California.

HALF THE TOWN, it seems, is busy rehearsing for the annual PTA Extravaganza which will be held this Friday and Saturday, Nov. 7 and 8, at the Sierra Madre School auditorium. Directors at right in foreground, are Mrs. James McCoy and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stowell. Tickets—75 cents for adults, 25 cents for children—are available from PTA Board members or at the door the nights of the performances. The show starts at 8 o'clock on both nights.

Rescue Crew Saves Girls On Ledge

Two teen-aged girls were rescued from a narrow mountain ledge in the Big Santa Anita Canyon Sunday afternoon by members of the Search and Rescue Team.

Sue and Joanne Betsinger, 16 and 17 years of age, 12 Yorkshire Dr., Arcadia, were attempting to climb a cliff above the stream and became stranded about 100 feet below the road leading to the dam.

Mr. Shippley, county dam keeper, heard their cries for help and called the Rescue Team.

Arriving on the scene at 4:35 p.m., Edward La Lone and Minor Harkness were lowered by ropes to the girls and brought them safely to the road.

Participating in the rescue were Earl and Edward La Lone, Minor Harkness, Jim Parsons, Don Colbert and Grand Raddon.

Filmstrip Studio Opens in Sierra Madre

A filmstrip distribution studio will officially open Saturday at 39 E. Montecito.

Jointly operated by Anne E. Cotter, Arthur C. Sloman and Edith H. Fish, the studio will distribute educational films to schools, libraries, churches, adult education groups and other similar organizations. The studio also plans to produce some films.

The first film to be distributed is on Central America and was produced by Russ and Nita Rosene, former Sierra Madreans.

Rams Stars To Appear at Roberts Market

Les Richter and Bill Wade, stars of the Los Angeles Rams, will be at Roberts Market this Friday from 6 to 8 p.m. during the drawing for an autographed football and other prizes.

The football will be autographed by the entire Rams team.

Other prizes are a complete football uniform, turkeys, hams and baskets of groceries. The drawing will be at 8 p.m.

Method of Hiring Studied by Board

School Board rules and regulations, with particular emphasis on the method of hiring teachers, were discussed Monday evening by the Board of Education.

The proposed method for hiring teachers, as recommended by Superintendent Robert E. Walker, varies slightly from the previous year's.

Under new procedure, the superintendent will be responsible for making recommendations to the School Board. He will, however, first consult with the principals and they, in turn, may discuss the applicants with teachers, if they so desire.

Last year, the superintendent had sole responsibility for making recommendations. Under the system two years ago, a screening committee composed of teachers, a Board member and the superintendent studied applicants' qualifications and made recommendations.

THE BOARD also discussed long-range planning and instructed the superintendent to study the district's financial standing within the next two months in order to budget properly for the 1959-60 school year.

Other items discussed are:

1. The average daily attendance, now at 846.67, up 30 pupils from last year. The schools here have been growing at the rate of about one classroom per year.

2. The bus schedule. Superintendent Walker was thanked in a letter from G. Norman Kennedy for his work in developing a good bus schedule.

3. The joint purchase of a mimeograph machine with the PTA. The machine will cost $350.

4. Appraisal of school property. The Board authorized a follow-up appraisal by the Tate Appraisal Co., at a cost of $135.

5. The removal of two trees in front of the Sierra Madre School. The trees will be removed by the city, which will bill the school district. They will be replaced by two Carob trees.

Final Meeting Planned on Yule Decorations

A meeting of Sierra Madre merchants will be held tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. in City Hall, Ralph Hurwit, chairman of the Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday.

Final plans for Christmas decorations will be made, Hurwit said, and it is vital for all merchants to turn out. The chamber will be assisted in Christmas decoration plans by Gordon Baker Lloyd and C. Jacques Hahn, both of whom will attend the meeting.

Only a handful of businessmen, representing six businesses, attended the last meeting to discuss Christmas decorations.

Program Needs Used Toys

Outgrown or broken toys, used in Sierra Madre's Toy Loan program, may be deposited in barrels at Roberts Market, Roess Market, Safeway, and Sierra Madre Hardware. The toys will be repaired and sanitized for use by Toy Loan.

Roess Market Burglarized; Checks Stolen

Burglars broke into Roess Market Tuesday night and stole $2,800 in checks, several hundred dollars worth of cigarettes and the grocery's check book.

Dave Roess, owner of the market, said all the checks were stamped "For Deposit Only," and thus the burglars will not be able to cash them.

All checks taken were ones cashed by the market on Monday. He requested that anybody who had cashed a check at his store on Monday, either payroll, personal or otherwise, to notify him.

Entry was made through a rear door which was broken open. The checks and checkbook were taken from Roess' desk draw in his office above the market. There were 313 blank checks in the book.

Mr. Roess asked anybody receiving one of his market checks either to notify him or the Sierra Madre Police.

The burglars also took his check writing machine, but dropped it at the door before leaving.

Confesses to Burglaries

A teen-age Sierra Madre boy was arrested by police this week and confessed to a number of burglaries.

He was arrested following the burglary at the home of Ann May Wagner, 471 N. Auburn, where approximately $300 in cash was stolen.

The youth, who has been in trouble repeatedly, both here and in Pasadena, admitted burglarizing the same home on at least two other occasions.

He was turned over to juvenile authorities and will be tried in Juvenile Court.

WHATEVER the outcome, however, Rep. Hiestand, seeking a fourth term, will know he has been in a fight.

His opponent, tall, personable and well versed in foreign and domestic affairs, is the wife of Caltech scientist Dr. Harrison Brown and the granddaughter of William Jennings Bryan.

She campaigned hard, and attacked Hiestand primarily on his voting record. The congressman, however, is

Unofficial Tally Shows Near Tie

BULLETIN

Registrar of Voters reported late yesterday afternoon that Rudd Brown was leading the incumbent, Edgar W. Hiestand, 91,655 to 87,588, with 943 of 1,182 precincts reporting.

Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand is fighting for his political life in a neck-and-neck struggle with the Democratic challenger, Rudd Brown.

The 21st District Congressional race was so close at 2 p.m. yesterday that any prediction was sheer folly, although both the Associated Press and United Press forecast a victory for Rudd Brown.

Unofficial totals, compiled by area newspapers, showed Hiestand leading by 217 votes. The vote, strictly unofficial, was Hiestand, 80,550; Rudd Brown, 80,333.

IN ADDITION, there are about 3,500 absentee ballots to be counted. The election, as a result, may not be finally determined for days, providing the unofficial figures are correct.

The picture was further confused because nobody seemed to know where the votes were coming from or what districts had not yet reported.

Areas reported still in doubt included Monrovia, normally Republican, and the Antelope Valley, usually Democratic. It was also reported that Altadena piled up a big vote for the GOP incumbent.

Official totals, as released by the Registrar of Voters office, gave Rudd Brown 46,365 votes to 38,526 for Hiestand. This was about 52 per cent of the total vote cast for the Congressional candidates.

WHATEVER the outcome, however, Rep. Hiestand, seeking a fourth term, will know he has been in a fight.

His opponent, tall, personable and well versed in foreign and domestic affairs, is the wife of Caltech scientist Dr. Harrison Brown and the granddaughter of William Jennings Bryan.

She campaigned hard, and attacked Hiestand primarily on his voting record. The congressman, however, is very popular in the Foothill cities.

A victory for Mrs. Brown would be a major upset, despite the nationwide Democratic landslide.

SIERRA MADRE, as was expected, gave a substantial margin to all Republicans, except Richard Richards who polled a good vote.

Hiestand led Mrs. Brown locally by 1,555 votes, although the latter received about 250 more votes than are normally captured by Democratic candidates in this GOP stronghold.

Pat Brown, the new governor of California polled reasonably well in Sierra Madre. It was noted at several polling places that some voters cast their ballots for Knowland and then did not vote for a candidate for U.S. senator.

Approximately 4,200 Sierra Madreans went to the polls, about 76 per cent of the registered voters.

POLLING PLACES were busy until the closing hours, and many of them didn't finish counting until after 3 a.m. Precinct 6, in fact, did not report until about 11 a.m.

Proposition 16 and 17 were easily defeated here, but the controversial Right-to-Work measure won, 2,539 to 1,668.

Hastings Ranch voted Republican, as was expected, by more than 2 to 1. Again, only Richard Richards came close to his GOP rival.

New Safety Program Set In Schools

Teachers at Sierra Madre elementary school have been practicing what they preach—safety.

At the first of the school year Arthur Hawkes from Los Angeles County schools office presented a review of what a good elementary school safety program should include.

Then the teachers went to work under the chairmanship of Mrs. Vivien Olson, 5th Grade, and mapped out a series of monthly safety assemblies. The first student assembly was held Oct. 29, with youngsters from each grade level presenting safety skits in the auditorium.

Community Chest $3,900 Short of Goal

The Sierra Madre Community Chest has raised $7,200 so far, it was announced yesterday. This is $3,900 short of its $11,000 goal.

Contributions from industries and workers, through A-I-D, however, have not yet often are not turned in until June, normally make up a substantial portion of the total.

Community Chest officials believe that the goal probably will be attained by next summer.

Everybody's Problem

Now that the election is over and the flights of political rhetoric have temporarily ceased, we can turn our thoughts to more earthly subjects, namely, if you'll excuse the bad pun, the Sierra Madre Cemetery.

The cemetery, located directly west of Sierra Vista Park, is possibly not an out-and-out eyesore, but neither is it an asset, in its present condition.

The problem of "what to do about the cemetery" has been tackled before, but most people gave up in despair.

THE COORDINATING COUNCIL has now assumed the problem and, through the work of James McCoy and Herbert W. Harrison, appears to have arrived at a possible solution. The problem won't be settled in one day, but a little light is glimmering through.

The cemetery has been permitted to deteriorate mainly because there are not sufficient funds to maintain it.

The Sierra Madre Cemetery Association, a private group, has been able to raise only a small portion of the money actually needed for maintenance. The descendants of persons buried in the cemetery have in some cases disappeared; family lines have vanished.

There seems to be only one solution. The City of Sierra Madre must assume control of the cemetery, must maintain it and see that proper records are kept—all without charge to the taxpayers, if humanly possible.

A big order, but not impossible. Mr. Harrison, a former city councilman who has had experience in this field, believes it can be done.

A perpetual care fund must be established and the City Council must agree to assume control after the necessary steps are completed.

A fund of possibly $50,000 would have to be raised. Invested at 5 per cent interest, this would return $2,500 a year—enough to maintain the cemetery on a year-round basis.

The fund could be raised, Mr. Harrison believes, by selling plots in the cemetery, by contributions from present members of the Cemetery Association and by voluntary contributions from individuals and civic groups in Sierra Madre who are interested in establishing the cemetery as a valuable and historic part of our city.

MUCH WORK must be done, of course, before any progress could be made toward establishing a fund.

A title search must be made, for example, of all the vacant land and roadways in the cemetery. It must be determined how much land is left to sell as plots. Legal requirements must be met.

If it proves impossible to raise money by the sale of plots and voluntary contributions, another solution may be found.

The problem could be put on the ballot to let the people decide whether the city should maintain the cemetery. This would mean a tax bill, but possibly enough money could be raised from one levy to establish a perpetual fund.

It appears, in any event, that we are at last on the way toward making our cemetery an asset rather than a weed-infested liability.—H.W.E.

A Woman's Work Is Never Done

By Jane Goodsell

With automation in home and factory, there is supposed to be an awful lot of leisure time floating around, and even more slated for the future.

This worries people who worry about things like that. (I think they're called social scientists.) I can't say that it worries me particularly, but then I've always been out of step. I've never been troubled by the loose money problem, either.

Anyway, the social scientists are frightened by all this leisure time, and they worry that we won't know what to do with it. They are afraid that we will fritter it away, spinning daydreams about Brigitte Bardot or hanging about poolrooms or moping around like bored children, asking, "What do we do now?"

IN CASE you, too, are worried about this serious social problem you may be interested in some of the pet projects and hobbies of the members of my family, who might be described as a fairly cross section of humanity. (Whether we are cross because we have too much leisure or too little, is a good question for the social scientists.)

My daughter, Katie, has an interesting hobby. She draws mustaches on the pictures of the brides in the society section of the newspapers. She also enjoys blowing the paper wrappers of paper straws, and one of her pet projects is not making her bed, an activity on which she often spends several hours a day.

Her older sister, Ann, also has a hobby which consumes a good deal of her time, as well as developing her powers of concentration. She stares at herself in a mirror, trying to decide whether to let her hair grow and wear it in a pageboy or to have it cut short in a bubble effect. She also employs the mathematical skills she learned in algebra to figure out how many years, months and days stand between her and a driver's license.

OUR YOUNGEST daughter, Molly, veers wildly from one activity to another, all of which are either illegal, immoral or fattening. Her interests are the degenerate type which terrify the social scientists, and it is probably best that they remain unidentified.

All three children spend a good deal of time eating between meals.

We have family group projects, too, and one of our favorite activities is not going to visit Aunt Louisa and Uncle George. I can't think of anything which gives us more genuine enjoyment and close family feeling. A day that begins with the suggestion that today would be a good time to visit you-know-who, and ends with us doing something else instead—even cleaning out the basement—ranks as a holiday.

And then, of course, there are our collections. In all modesty, I think I can claim that we have one of this century's finest assortments of wire coat hangers, not to mention our empty pop bottle collection and our dazzling array of old medicines.

WE ONCE started a collection of old coins but, after a brief whirl we gave it up in favor of accumulating modern folding currency. We abandoned this project in favor of eating.

And speaking of eating, one of my favorite hobbies is collecting recipes. I often become so engrossed in my recipe collection that I lose all track of time, and I barely have time to heat up the baked beans and frozen peas for dinner.

All in all, I can truthfully state that ours is a busy, varied, challenging life, with 24 hours a day barely enough to pursue our many activities. Why, some days I have only a few minutes to devote to my paper clip chain.—(Reprinted from The Guild Reporter.)

Letters to the Editor

VICTORIOUS?

Nearly forty years ago the struggle ended.
Who shall we say won the victory?
The boys who lay in Flander's Fields?
The aching hearts at home that never healed?
Unthinking brains who formed the plans of hate?
The money changers rubbing itching palms.
The trembling hands that still hold notes
Written on the battle fields reading which Will still bring tears? Was it ever won?

Truth and wrong march on, side by side,
Always in battle. Is man ever justified
In crushing one for selfish gains,
In raising up the other in a state of glory
For expediency? Let man search, with honesty.
His mind, his heart, his soul. For some day
The Law of Compensation will extract its toll.

CITY EMBLEM

In selecting an emblem for Sierra Madre, the big question is, what most nearly typifies our city? The answer must be, of course, limited in several ways. The symbols must be simple in outline, and easily recognizable as an outstanding physical feature of our community as well as typifying it in spirit. It must be non-commercial, and permanent, as far as any material object can be permanent.

I propose as the answer to all these conditions, a native live oak tree, against the mountain background. The live oak, in its several species, is easily the most distinctive feature of the chaparral (Sp. evergreen oak) belt in which we live, and beautifully typical of the semi-desert growth of this region.

Its shape is unique, not easily confused with an other tree. Sierra Madre is one of the older communities in the area, and the large trees which we have nurtured constitute an outstanding physical feature.

The live oak is a true conservative, following the pattern of desert growth in the small, curved, leathery leaves, shielding its moisture from the sun, and the sharp spines, discouraging attack.

Its hospitality, however, could be attested to by the many thousands of small boys (and girls!) who have clambered among its wide low branches. The oak is traditionally a symbol of permanence, and deserves recognition for its survival in spite of fire, flood, and mankind.

Paul Butler and the Pro-Segregationists

By Robert Spivak

A lot of the so-called political "pros" are now taking off after Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler for saying that he would not be dismayed if the pro-segregation extremists were to leave the party fold and start their own splinter group.

I regret to see that among those who failed to back up Butler was former President Harry S. Truman. Whether what Butler said was smart politics or simply an honest expression of opinion, it is indisputable that he was reflecting what thousands of Democrats around the country know and feel.

After a slap on the wrist for Arkansas Gov. Faubus, Truman said he was "not reading anyone" out of the party. Only a week earlier he was saying just the opposite in references to Virginia's Sen. Byrd and Mississippi's Sen. Eastland.

But leaving aside Truman's inconsistencies, the question remains whether Butler hurt or injured his party by saying what he said.

MY OWN judgment is that Butler rendered a distinct service to those Democrats, Northern and Southern, who are sick of the Dixie demagogues from pious, pink-cheeked Harry Byrd, all the way down the ladder to eel-like Orval Faubus. In terms of national power Faubus, of course, belongs in the minor leagues. But Byrd and Eastland are not bush-leaguers. They have a great deal to say about everything from the "tight money" policy to immigration matters.

How did they achieve this power? By seniority. It piled up after years of election and re-election in one-party states. Taken together these political twins were elected by fewer than 500,000 people in their two states. But there were 26,000,000 voters who cast their ballots for Adlai Stevenson in 1956 and it is for the majority of them that Butler speaks.

AID TO THE ENEMY?—There are those who argue that Butler should have kept quiet until after Election Day because his remarks underscored the split in the Democratic Party which everyone knows exists. If it is true that everyone knows about it, then there was no reason at all for Butler to keep silent.

If Butler has not spoken out when he did many people would have been right in asking the same questions of the Democratic National Committee.

HITLERISM IN DIXIELAND —For a great many years I have felt that many of us have been too hard on the German people, as a people, during all the years of the Third Reich. We often condemned them for not standing looking the other way when ing up against the Nazis, for Jews were persecuted and political opponents were herded into concentration camps.

But as the passions of World War II die down, I wonder if it really isn't possible for any nation to be bullied and browbeaten. Just take a look at what is going on in the South these days.

How many Americans down there are standing up to the violent extremists who go around blowing up public school buildings and dynamiting Jewish temples?

You can probably name one or two courageous politicians here and there who have spoken out against the violence. But the list of those in both parties who have not said anything—because it is not yet "safe" to do so—is a long one.

Where are the voices of Sens. Fulbright, McClellan, Sparkman, Hill, Smathers and other so-called Southern "moderates"? And why the deafening silence from I. Lee Potter, chief of the Republican National Committee's southern campaign staff?

Think back how many people were silent during the McCarthy era. It makes me feel a little more tolerant about the slowness with which people abroad have thrown off the yoke of dictatorship and a lot more impatient with some of my own countrymen.

What Do You Think? . . .

Character Attacks Degrade Politics

By Lee Shippey

A few months ago Bill Harkins and I were chummy neighbors, who liked and admired one another. Then election campaigns began to warm up, and Bill began to suspect I was a dangerous radical and I began to suspect he was the stupid tool of dangerous conservatism.

By last Monday each of us was ready to accuse the other of everything from mayhem to murder and we wildly applauded those who accused their opponents of all the malicious villainy they could think of.

But now the election is over and Bill and I are beginning to realize that both of us are good Americans, and even if each of us does cling to some prejudices inherited from grandfathers we never knew, and both of us sincerely hope the persons elected will honestly do the best they can for all of us.

In jumping to wild suspicious and exaggerated allegations, we were simply honoring an old American custom.

When George Washington retired from the Presidency one of the most influential newspapers in this country editorially declared that the people should ring the church bells and dance in the streets because a tyrant who wanted to destroy all that had been fought for in the Revolution had been retired to the ranks of private citizens.

When Lincoln first loomed tall on the national scene the newspapers of New York and eastern leaders of his own party called him the baboon from Illinois and much that was worse.

It's an old American custom. But isn't it childish?

I TAKE some pride in the fact that I have never referred to any President in my time as "that blankety blank in the White House." If I had proof that any man in politics ought to be in jail I would present it to the proper authorities but I have tried never to repeat nor disseminate any rumors or allegations of which I have no personal knowledge.

In the more than 50 years in which I have been voting, five Republicans and three Democrats have held the presidency. I have heartily disagreed with some actions of some of them, but I never doubted that each of them sincerely tried to do the best. And I think none of us should repeat any serious charge against anyone in politics to which we ourselves could not take oath on the witness stand.

For character assassination is a vicious, brutal and shameful thing, and the candidate who wins by use of whispering campaigns, against which there is no recourse, is vile than a snake.

Millions Leave Them There!

Born of Confidence

"See that fellow over there rolling up his sleeve? He's Joe Smith, one of the best workmen on the job. He does his own work well and has time to help others — and brother — this is a he-man's job. On this job he stands out alone. He speaks ill of no one, and say, he has something! He has a God that is just as real to him as you are to me right now. Do you know why? Because, with his family he goes to church regularly each week and it pays off for him with a real, personal God, for through the kind of faith it inspires is born confidence in the MIGHT OF RIGHT."

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in this space.

"Health Chats"

THIS CARD COULD SAVE YOUR LIFE

The above headline is the title of a current magazine article which brings to our attention one of the most important health features of our modern, high-speed living. Emergency hospitals are flooded constantly with serious emergency conditions in patients who are unconscious and about whom the servicing doctors have no medical record whatsoever. These persons may be hypersensitive to antibiotics to a point of suffering critically from them or they may be sensitive to any one of a number of commonly used drugs or subject to anaphylaxis (serum sickness or reaction) upon the administration of substances as innocuous as liver and iron. Consequently, care of such persons who are the victims of highway and other accidents or casualties of innumerable stresses of modern living are risky patients to handle when they are in no condition to supply any of their medical history. Frequently diabetics have received the incorrect treatment because they were discovered in coma and no one knew they were diabetics.

The solution pointed out in the article is very simple: Everyone should carry in their bill-fold a card giving concisely their medical history. This card will provide the important information which an attending doctor would need in an emergency and at some future time may be the very thing that will save your life. It will give blood type, and Rh factor, drug sensitiveness, allergies, histories of illnesses and operations; also the name, address and telephone number of the doctor from whom complete medical history can be secured.

A doctor servicing an unconscious emergency case is sure to wonder, "Is there history of tuberculosis? Have tetanus shots been given—and how long ago? Is there an allergy to cortisone, to aspirin?" and many other vital points, any of which may have serious bearing upon the survival or the emergency.

The Foothill General Health Service along with many other modern health offices is prepared to provide these cards to their patients. Items which are incomplete from present information can be filled in by having necessary laboratory tests made to complete them.—Adv.

Huntington Library Reopens

The Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery reopened Nov. 1 after its annual October closing.

A new exhibition has been prepared in honor of the 400th anniversary of the accession of Queen Elizabeth I to the throne of Britain, Nov. 17, 1558.

Documents bearing the signature and the Great Seal of the famous queen have been placed on exhibit in the library building. Early portrait engravings of the queen and of great literary figures, courtiers, and adventures of the Elizabethan Age are shown, together with original letters in the handwriting of Sir Walter Raleigh, Essex, Mary Queen of Scots, and Elizabeth herself.

Two exhibitions popular during the summer months will continue into the winter. They are "Bench and Bar and the Realm of the Law," the exhibit of rare books, manuscripts and satiric prints which was prepared for the visit of the American Bar Association in August, and "California Under Three Flags," a history of California in manuscripts, maps and original drawings. Exhibition hours are from 1 to 4:30 every day except Mondays.

LEGAL NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 611

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE REGULATING PIN GAME MACHINES AND SIMILAR CONTRIVANCES.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SIERRA MADRE DOES ORDAIN:

SECTION 1. Games and Similar Contrivances — Possession Prohibited.

A. Definitions. For the purpose of this Section, the following terms are defined as hereinafter set forth:

1. "Pin Game": Any table, cabinet or mechanism equipped for the playing of any game whereby any marble, ball, pellet or other moving object is propelled, released, rolled or shot along, over or above a surface set with pins, pegs or other obstructions or irregularities which deflect or impede the course of the moving object or which may divert or direct it beyond the control of the player.

2. "Marble Game": Any table, cabinet or mechanism equipped for the playing of a game whereby marbles or balls are, with the aid of a mechanical plunger or other affixed device, propelled, released, shot or rolled so as to drop or come to rest in holes, slots, cups or traps, resulting in a score or tally being electrically or otherwise registered or shown which score or tally depends upon the course followed or point reached by the marble or ball upon the contact points touched by it along its course, or upon any combination of such factors.

3. The phrase "any game similar to a marble game" shall mean: "Bally-Ale" and any other miniature mechanical bowling game device, by whatever name called; any table, cabinet or mechanical device equipped for the playing of any game whereby any marble, ball, pellet or any moving object is propelled, rolled, shot or released toward a goal, pin, set of pins, or other objective by means of any plunger, ejector, mechanical bat, mechanical hand or by means of any other striking or releasing mechanism which is fixed or attached to the table or cabinet, or which is an integral part of the mechanical device or which is mechanically manipulated, controlled or guided; and which game is so contrived that the conclusion of the operation or play thereof is visible or otherwise discernible so as to permit or make practicable the playing of or awarding of a prize or reward upon the operation or play of the game.

4. "Claw, Hook or Grab Machine": Any amusement machine or device so designed that articles placed or heaped therein for the purpose of the game may be grabbed, hooked or otherwise displaced, recovered or removed by the operation of any contrivance simulating in miniature a power-shovel, clam-shell, dragline or similar excavating tool or machine.

5. "Horse Racing Machine": Any mechanically operated amusement machine or device contrived to simulate in miniature the running of a horse race or any other race run by beasts, humans or machines, or which is contrived to put in motion any number of objects or symbols which then do, or appear to, run or move against each other in the manner of a miniature race, or which is designed to represent, by symbols, the running of any race and the order of the finish thereof.

B. No person shall keep, maintain or possess in any place of business or in any place of public resort:

1. Any pin game, any marble game or any game similar to a marble game, any claw, hook or grab machine, or any horse race machine, the operation of which game or machine is controlled, permitted or made available by placing therein a coin, plug, disk, key or token, or which is let for use, operation or play upon the payment of value therefor, or upon the making of any purchase;

2. Any mechanical device or mechanically operated contrivance for the playing of any game of chance, the use or operation of which is controlled, permitted or made available by placing therein any coin, plug, disk, key, or token, or which is let for use, operation, or play upon the payment of value therefor, or upon the making of any purchase;

C. The provisions of this Section shall not apply to the keeping, possessing or exhibiting of any such mechanical contrivance or device at or in any mercantile store in which such mechanical contrivances or devices are kept solely for sale and which mechanical contrivances or devices are not permitted or allowed to operate, manipulate or play except as incident to a demonstration for the purpose of sale.

SECTION 2. Same. Unlawful Possession — Declared to Be a Nuisance.

A. Any machine, contrivance, appliance, device, game, ticket, chance, share interest, instrument or article operated, used, kept, possessed, placed or maintained in violation of the provisions of:

1. Section 330a of the Penal Code of the State of California; or

2. Any Section enumerated in Part I, Title 9, of the Penal Code of the State of California; or

3. Section 1 of this Ordinance is hereby declared to be a nuisance and shall be subject to abatement as hereinafter provided.

B. When any person has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to any violation of any provision of this Code or of any law of this State, which offense involved the operation, use, maintenance or possession of any article declared by Sub-section A hereof to be a nuisance, then such article shall be destroyed by the Chief of Police after the plea or after the judgment of conviction has become final.

If any article subject to destruction as hereinabove provided is in the custody of any court, the Chief of Police shall cause an application to be made to the judge of said court for an order releasing such article to him in order that he may comply with this Section.

SECTION 3. PENALTY. Any person violating or causing or permitting to be violated any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $500.00 or by imprisonment in the City County Jail for not more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SECTION 4. The City Clerk shall certify to the adoption of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be published once in the Sierra Madre News, a newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sierra Madre, and published and circulated in said City.

The arrow points to the "Guideline": LOCAL SHOPS DEPEND ON YOU. Ad-RIME lines must tie in and rhyme with the Guideline. Your entry MUST carry the "Hidden Slogan." Find it among the ads—one word in each column starting at the left. You don't have to buy anything to win prizes but MUST find and write the hidden Slogan. Preference is given to AD-RIME lines that tie in well and BOOST LOCAL TRADE. Get the swing—the two lines are a "jingle." One which can't win is: "Shopping Here Will Help You, Too." Here you must write original ones. Good luck — and keep trying.

Of Purchase Prize Show Variety Main Feature

by Bill Palmer

If there is any truth to the saying, "Variety is the spice of life," then there is spice in abundance for all at the Fourth Annual Purchase Prize Show now on exhibit at the Sierra Madre Public Library through the month of November.

For those who enjoy water-colors with fresh, sparkling color and subject matter that is treated more in the traditional manner, I recommend Noel Quinn's "Rainy Day, Tokyo" and "Mexican Theme" by James Couper Wright. For those who enjoy subject matter treated in the traditional manner, but with more subdued color, there is Phil Dike's "China Cove" and Rex Brandt's "Going to the Race."

Subject matter which is treated with a pleasing blend of traditional and contemporary is found in "Of Sun and Summer" by John Leeper—an interesting study of a seated female figure whose contours are broken with areas of light and shade; "Still Life" by Ernest Shapp, brought out in a strong composition consisting of colors that range through various shades of gray, black and white. Also included in this group are "Full Moon" by Richard Haines, "Aqueduct and Snowship" by Dorothy Brown, "White Buildings" by William Bradshaw, "Eventide" by Phil Paradise, and "Potatoes" by K. Antoyan.

FOR THOSE who enjoy subject matter presented in a contemporary style, I recommend "Wondrous" a study in strong browns and yellow, by Dorothy Lotts; "Of Falling Light," brilliant bursts of color, by Gerd Koch; and "Twilight" by Leonard Edmundson.

Norma Chuan's "Summer View, Central Italy" is a landscape in which the artist has portrayed the hills and nestling towns in a technique similar to a line drawing in stark black and softened the effect with touches of contrasting color which is also used as an accent in the sky. Dorothy Jordan's painting, "The Sirens' Island," is a delightful view into fantasyland. Here we see the fate of Ulysses in a painting rich in blue, purple and yellow where the artist has even shown the viewer the rocky terrain of the island through her clever use of texture.

Two paintings that stand out through the use of dark, Voodoo Drum" by Francis de Erdely and "Still Life" by Edward Reep. A central figure dominates the first painting which achieves its force through the taut muscles of the neck, the upraised head, the arms and powerful hands—you can almost hear the beating of the drum! The subject matter of Edward Reep's painting is static, but he has achieved a dynamic quality through the use of strong blues, and darker colors and accenting the entire composition with white.

PEOPLE or portraits are also included in this collection. Douglas MacFadden's "The Ugliness of Beauty—the Beauty of Ugliness," is a composition of a number of human figures and the colors are bright. On the other hand, "Taos Woman" by Katharine Skeele Dann, is a composition of one figure done in gray, gray-blue, and white and is very effective in its simplicity.

"Garden" by David Metzgar has an almost Japanese quality. Color and line have been used sparingly and the overall effect is an unusual and pleasing study. "After the Fire" by Ted Velasquez is a timely subject, having been painted after the last fire in Monrovia Canyon, and brings out the havoc of fire through the stark shapes in the foreground silhouetted against a background of red.

I urge all of you to visit the library within the next two weeks and vote for the painting that you would like to have added to the permanent collection of the Sierra Madre Library. The last day to vote will be Saturday, Nov. 15, at which time the ballots will be tabulated and the winning painting announced the following week.

Members to Sell Christmas Cards

It's Christmas card time for women of the Spastic Children's League of Pasadena.

The sale of original artist cards constitutes the main source of funds for the maintenance of the Pasadena Cerebral Palsy Center, 355 W. Green St.

At the center, the league helps handicapped victims of the San Gabriel Valley area adjust toward a normal way of living through presentation of classes in physical, occupational and speech therapy. The center supplies, but does not duplicate, other existing cerebral palsy programs.

Designs of the original cards now being sold by local league members are donated each year by such well known artists as Elaine Gilman, Vivian, Janet Olson, Watson Haskell, Sam Pirolo, Frances McCloy, H. J. MacGregor, Dorothy Lotts, Harry Garo, Thom Sweany and Barbara Kelley.

Each card, in addition to its Christmas greeting, carries a notation that it also represents a gift to the Spastic Children's League of Pasadena.

Mrs. L. O. Ott, ways and means chairman, is assisted by Mrs. Donald Clarke, Mrs. Frank Woodhead and Mrs. Samuel Wilson.

These cards may be had by calling the Cerebral Palsy Center, SYcamore 3-2264, or in Arcadia through member Mrs. Richard H. Keatinge, 81 Hacienda Drive, ELgin 5-3237.

Local Boy Named Fellowship President

Wayne Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eber Thomas, 450 Mt. Wilson, and graduate of Pasadena High School, has recently been elected president of the United Student Fellowship at Pacific University, Forest Grove, Ore.

Thomas, a senior majoring in physics, is a member of the Alpha Zeta fraternity. He was the assistant student chaplain last year.

set up so that each room will develop slogans for all rooms to use—a new one each week. Mrs. Marge Lindsay, P.T.A. safety chairman, has been meeting with Ed Hawkins, principal, on safety plans which involve the community.

Next scheduled activity is the Nov. 6 street safety demonstration in which the Sierra Madre Police and the California Highway Patrol cooperate to show children some hazards in walking, or riding bicycles. A section of Highland Ave. will be closed for an hour for this program. And finally the teachers themselves began a new safety practice. The reason there are few cars at the curb in front of school is because teachers are parking across the streets or in back of the school.

This not only gives more room for parents to pick up or drop children in the school side (another safety suggestion), but it leaves less room to do it on the wrong side.

Mrs. Elmer Quarnstrom, 455N. Canon, recently spent five days in Sierra Madre Hospital.

Well, it's all over but the patching up of hurt feelings and the mopping up of retracting some of the wild slander that went on prior to the election. No matter what comes of this election, this is what the people have chosen and it is up to the losers to support the candidates who have been chosen.

It is a sorry thing to see a pre-election such as we have just gone through. I think there was more mud slung and more loose talk this time than we have had in many a year. I'll admit that it was loaded with potentialities but it is pitiful when candidates have to stoop so low as they have this time. Neither party is above reproach and the positions received a general free-for-all.

Well, it is over and now it's time to pick up the pieces. If you don't like what happened, there is always the next time and the next. This country has been going to the dogs since its beginning and somehow we always pull through, perhaps a little bruised and maybe a little wiser.

BACK TO celebration of Halloween. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goldworthy had their annual celebration last Friday evening. They decorated their home in a typical holiday manner. For refreshments they had a caldron of chili and beans brewing all evening. The guests of course were in costumes beyond description.

The invited guests included Dr. and Mrs. Lincoln Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Mueller, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Christianson, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hinshaw, Dr. and Mrs. Clete Dorsey, Messrs. and Mesdames Diane Whitehead, George Holmes, Joseph Philipson, James Smart, Alkman Armstrong, John Chapman, Edward H. Barker, Robert Jacobs, Roger Morehart, Kenneth Dinwiddie, Lloyd Howard, George Clark, Ernest Maurin and Dr. and Mrs. Jack Paschall Jr.

MRS. LARRY Garland of Old House Road gave a lovely Koffee Klatch last week to honor Mrs. F. R. Anderson's sister, Mrs. Robert Kenny, who has just moved into the Altadena area with her family from Chicago, Ill. This party was a way of introducing her to some of Sara's neighbors and friends. The guests included Mesdames Norman White, E. Marshall Harris, W. F. McComas, Ira Lackey, Robert Mueller, Joseph Philipson, Kenneth Fuller, George Holmes, Lincoln Wilson, John Chapman, Ernest Maurin, George Clark, William Sandberg and Henry Hitt Crane Jr.

MR. AND MRS. Dave Elmer of Old House Road have as a houseguest for this month Mrs. Joseph A. Elmer, Mr. Elmer's mother. She is up on a bi-annual visit from San Jose, Costa Rica, where Mr. Elmer is affiliated with the Institute of American Affairs. Mr. Elmer plans to come up some time in December for a six weeks' visit.

BACK FROM Canada are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Matloff. They spent 16 days up in Manitoba visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Laidlaw, Mrs. Matloff's sister. While there Mr. Matloff took in a Canadian football game, ice hockey game, and tried his hand with curling. Curling, I'm told, is a form of bowling on ice using a broom as a stick. In their three-hour stopover in Chicago on their return they ran into their son, Victor, a pilot of United Airlines. He had been transferred to the East for a month.

ALSO HOME from vacation are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rogers of Pasadena Glen. They spent a week touring the northern country which included a visit to Bridgeport, Sonora Pass, visiting friends in Sutter's Creek, on to San Francisco for a day and back down to visit the famous Hearst Castle in San Simeon. Mrs. Rogers says it is almost impossible to believe the magnificence and lavish furnishings of this years old!

speaker for the evening, Ross Morgan, newly elected president, and Richard S. Friend, outgoing president.

Halloween

The Eric C. Guttman home, 1410 Riviera, was the scene of a Halloween party last Friday night when their daughter, Irene, entertained friends following the Pasadena High School and Glendale High School football game.

The buffet table was laden with turkey, ham, cake and cookies as well as gallons of soft drinks, for those arriving for the dancing and evening's festivities.

Among those in attendance were the hostess' sister, Lillian, Elka Joubert, Carol Caser, Marilyn Hanson, Jean Poulett, Howard Siegle, Ditty Dittberner, Doug Dexter, Toddy Draeger, Bob Olds, Martin Newman and Priscilla Wells.

Also, Mel Heins, Ginny Hezlet, Tom Delsel, Gary and Larry Boscowitz, Ruth McKeaton, Sis Rosenthal, Barry Holtzman, Suzy Sparer, Carol Patterson, Andy Hoffman, Tim Rudnick, George Davis and Dee Jay Cole.

Also, Lee Zarembo, Joan Foulds, Andy Vingo, Maureen Wilde, Chuck Harrison, Laurie Kerschner, Ray Chancellor, Byron Baron, Dennis DeCicco, Terry Cressman, Ron Halverson, Bill Watts, Diane Nields, Steve Chapman and Ed Evans.

Leaders and guardians of Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls of the Sierra-Hastings district will hold their monthly association meeting at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Shadow Grove Rd. home of Mrs. James Stivers.

Plans to be discussed will include those for the annual meeting of Sierra-Hastings parents Nov. 24, when officers for the year will be elected.

TINI-CANDA GIRLS Tini-Canda Camp Fire Girls, fifth graders from Sierra Madre, held a ceremonial Wednesday afternoon to celebrate their passing of the Trail Seeker's rank, first rung of the Camp Fire ladder.

The ceremonial meeting was held at the home of Mary Fox. Girls receiving their rank were Cindy Dewdney, Robyn Berkshire, Jane Wells, Cinda Coulson and Christine Warden. Mrs. William Coulson Jr. is their guardian.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, dear column, happy birthday to you. Today we are three years old!

UP ON ...

Hastings Hill

Whether or not the election results were to your liking, you'll have to admit it's nice to have the voting over. Once again the TV channels emit their usual brand of entertainment, not very good most of the time, but at least you won't find after listening for 10 minutes, that someone has been trying sneakily to get you to vote for some proposition or other. Your favorite nursery rhymes once again have the same old words, not ones written especially for some candidate.

Probably that type of campaigning annoys most because you feel the candidates are insulting your intelligence and hence don't rate any vote at all. Hastings Ranchers, who are active in politics of both major parties, are famed for their 99% turn-out at the polls. Probably not one scrap of the TV and radio "selling" changed one opinion in our neighborhood. People around here think for themselves.

VIRGINIA and Dick Hubbel, although holding loyalty to UCLA, nevertheless had a grand weekend with a party of friends who flew north to see Stanford and USC battle on the gridiron.

ARLYNN and Paul Kaponya have returned from Palm Springs where he attended the annual Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association conference held at El Mirador Hotel.

WHO ELSE but Ethel Hays would spend all Halloween day making attractive cookies for the evening's tricks-or-treats. When I heard about her "project," I was tempted to polish off the old broom and wait my turn in line for the "treats."

JAN HJORTH has returned from a three-month business trip. Ten weeks of his time was spent in the Orient with stops in Hong Kong, Shanghai, the Philippines and also Australia. The remaining 10 days were taken up with a stay in Mexico City. We are all looking forward to seeing Doris in ensembles made from the lovely materials he brought her.

JUST RECEIVED word from Dotty and Paul Uebing, former Ranch residents now living in Cleveland, that their fourth daughter had arrived on Oct. 12. Poor brother Joe is going to have a rough go with four sisters telling him what to do.

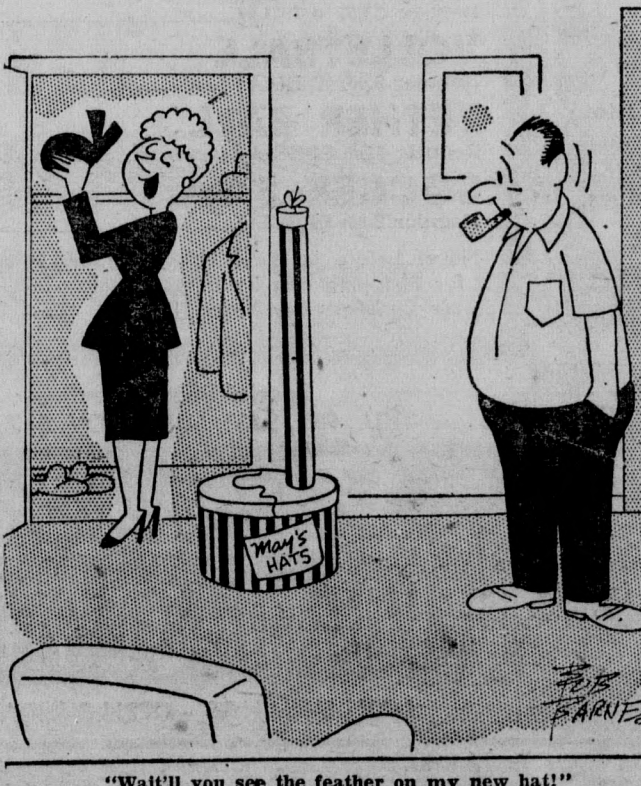

YOU'LL NEVER be the same after you have been treated to a ride on George Schlueter's newly acquired Exocycle. It seems that there is a wide selection of "speeds" to choose from but believe me, better you walk because at ANY speed you are pulled and stretched into "unused" positions. Seriously though, once you get your Marlon Brando jacket adjusted and your bloomers cinched in real tight, it's fun and makes you feel real good.

LAS SEQUITAS of the Ranch CF Guild and their husbands had a very nice party last Saturday night in the home of Betty and Duke Douglyn. Betty and the other hostesses, LaRetta Adams and Barbara Clark, conjured up a fine barbecued chicken dinner which was followed by a "white elephant" sale. Al Tompkins did a noble job as auctioneer and whipped enthusiasm so high Robbie Pruitt found herself the possessor of a very much used pumpkin head, complete with a burn-out candle. Bill Shiner was quite the fashion plate in his cross between a Moo Moo and "lounging robe." Ernie Wenberg received lots of compliments as he modeled his lilac hued bib-apron and Bill Pursley wasn't too far behind with his two pairs of earrings. Henry Asher really hit the jackpot when his bid gave him the most miserable looking pitcher shaped as a cat. Everyone went home feeling they had gotten more than their money's worth.

JUNE and Roly Ziegler are leaving today by a CMA plane for a two-week holiday in Mexico City and Acapulco. They will return by way of Phoenix and spend a few weeks at Camelback Inn.

SigmaKappa
To Mark
Founding

Sigma Kappas will gather for dinner at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 9, at La Ronde Rue Restaurant in Long Beach to celebrate the 74th anniversary of their sorority's founding.

Sigma Kappa stands among the pioneer Greek-letter sororities. It was founded in November, 1874, at Colby College, Waterville, Me. One of the members of the original group of five members not only was the first woman to graduate from Colby, but had the distinction of being the first woman to graduate from any New England college.

Special invitations to the dinner have been sent to those members who have been in the sorority 45 years or more. Mrs. Elizabeth Green Douglas, national counselor, will be honor guest at the banquet.

As a part of the program activities from Alpha Omicron Chapter at UCLA will present an historical skit depicting the founding and early days of Sigma Kappa.

The Los Angeles, Pasadena junior and senior, San Fernando Valley, Long Beach, West Los Angeles, Whittier and Glendale-LaCanada Valley alumnae groups will participate as well as the active college chapters at UCLA and Long Beach State College, Mrs. D. Members Plan
Hunt Breakfast

Sunday, Nov. 9, will be a casual get-together for Junior League of Pasadena members and husbands. A "Hunt Breakfast" is planned at Annandale Golf Club, starting at 10:30 a.m.

To accommodate the football enthusiasts who wish to come, and also plan on going to the Ram-49er game, there will be chartered buses available leaving from the club.

The hospitality committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Eugene Metcalf, is in charge of planning the brunch. Those serving on the committee are: Mmes. Robert Dawson, Kern Fielder, Frank Thomas, Albert Travis, Kenneth Volk, Harry Sargent, Gerald Whitehead, William Witmer, Stanley Woodward and Miss Marion Witbeck.

Those officers elected were Jane Mobus, Lois Harding and Brenda Bartling, patrol leaders; Judy Carter, Ellen Whited and Barbara Haugen, assistant patrol leaders; Gail Templar, troop reporter; Wendy Welliver, hostess; Marilyn Roth, scribe; Marlene Epstein, treasurer; Lynn Miller, scrap book; Ann Huber, song leader; Christine

Las Jardineras Wins
Landscaping Trophy

Las Jardineras, home and garden club of lower Hastings Ranch, received the Judges' Trophy, as well as a first prize for its landscaping exhibit last weekend at the first flower and garden show to be held at the County Arboretum.

A gold cup was presented to Las Jardineras president, Mrs. Ray Lindman, in special award ceremonies Saturday afternoon at the show.

The Las Jardineras entry was designed and executed entirely by members of the club, with husbands helping with hauling of plants from club members' yards to the exhibit.

The prize-winning exhibit was a 10-by-30-foot plot, depicting the corner of a contemporary garden with a Japanese feeling. In addition to a number of plant specimens, a dry-stream bed was shown behind which a small table was set for a sukiyaki dinner. A small iron crab, a stone lantern and a contemporary mosaic hung at the rear added atmosphere. The mosaic is an original by Mrs. Charles Ayres, a member of Las Jardineras.

Las Jardineras is composed of 35 women living in the lower Ranch, who meet Colgan, housekeeper, and Andra Amber, color guard chairman.

Pam Farnsworth will be assuming the duties of assistant patrol leader when Barbara Haugen and her parents move from the Ranch in the near future.

The members are currently working toward their Dabblers' Badge.

monthly for home and garden discussions, but also enroll their year's program with luncheon and garden tours, spring and fall parties to which husbands are invited. Mrs. Lindman is the club's fifth president.

Chairman for the show was Mrs. John McGraw, who also was show chairman when the club took a first prize at the Pasadena Flower Show at its last offering several years ago.

She was assisted by many club members, but with a majority of the planning and execution being done by Mrs. Kip Bowen, Mrs. Charles Coates, Mrs. Harry Masser, Mrs. John Calmer and Mrs. Lindman.

Other members of the club are Mrs. Frank Kirksey, Mrs. Jack Atkinson, Mrs. Charles Hurter, Mrs. Droper Jennings, Mrs. Marvin Loomis, Mrs. Edward Masterson, Mrs. Horace Ray, Mrs. Fred Stever, Mrs. Robert Smallman, Mrs. Richard Hubbell, Mrs. William Caldecott, Mrs. Joseph Cummins, Mrs. Russell Stubs and Mrs. John Baker.

Also, Mrs. Kirk Lewis, Mrs. Peter Lubisch, Mrs. Peter Hurtig, Mrs. Robert Buttane, Mrs. Stanley Mikulka, Mrs. Jack Washburn, Mrs. E. S. Gregory, Mrs. Martin Smith, Mrs. Jack Steffens and Mrs. Russell Pooler.

New Gas Supply Could Help Anti-Smog Plans

Huge new supplies of natural gas which are en route to Southern California will meet the objectives of the smog abatement program and, at the same time, safeguard the interests of all gas customers, it was reported in testimony before the California Public Utilities Commission.

A. R. Bailey, executive vice president of Southern Counties Gas Co., spokesman for the Southland gas utilities, summarized contracts which have been executed with out-of-state gas suppliers which would nearly double the import of out-of-state gas, if necessary approval by public regulatory bodies is granted.

The pipeline facilities planned for bringing this supply into Southern California would have capacity to more than double current imports.

On the basis of these supplies, gas company spokesmen emphasized, the two gas companies could supply without interruption requirements of industrial users, including steam electric generating agencies, during the months deemed "smog critical" by the Air Pollution Control authorities.

'Eye Witness to Soviet' Is Forum Film

The Community Forum will present Fredric Christian with one of the latest films on Russia Thursday evening, Nov. 6, at 7:45 in the Monrovia-Duarte High School auditorium.

Christian's film explains in non-political and non-technical terms the order of society in the U.S.S.R. He shows pictorially and realistically what a visiting American will see in the cities and countryside of Russia. It is an authentic picture covering Russia from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

"Eye Witness to the Soviet" is filled with human interest, expert photography, and factual narration. It includes all types of individuals, their customs and their lives.

The Kulinary Kettle . . .

Canning Is Way to Share Hospitality with Neighbors

By Toni Maurin
SY 7-9634

Canning and preserving can be many things to many people. To Mr. Leo Sharp, a retired newspaper editor and his wife, it has become a hobby and a way of sharing their hospitality.

The will give you a pot of chili sauce or a jar of pickles as a way of saying glad to know you, or perhaps for no reason at all but to cheer you in your daily life. As Mrs. Sharp says, there is hardly a jar that passes her way that isn't filled with something from their kitchen and sent on its travels again.

When I asked Mr. Sharp for some of his favorite canning recipes he not only was kind enough to write them down, but I too received samples for testing. For my taste they are tops.

MUSTARD PICKLES

(About 6 quarts)

- 1 quart large cucumbers cubed
- 1 quart small cucumbers whole or cubed
- 1 quart marble size silver skin onions
- 1 quart green tomatoes chopped fine
- 2 red sweet pepper chopped fine
- 1 medium size cauliflowerer chopped fine
- 2 quarts vinegar
- 2 cups brown sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 1 tablespoon tumeric
- 6 tablespoons dry mustard (Colemans or Spice Island)
- 1/2 cup salt
- 1 quart water

Method: Wash vegetables, cover with brine solution of water and the 1/2 cup salt. Allow to stand for 24 hours. Bring to boil in solution; drain. Mix mustard, flour, tumeric, sugar, and vinegar thoroughly. Stir in vegetables and cook until thick. Can immediately in sterilized jars and seal. Allow them to stand for two weeks to ripen.

THE FOLLOWING chili sauce is delicious. He gave me two jars. One was made hotter by the addition of more vinegar, sugar and Nepal pepper. The Nepal pepper is a Spice Island product.

Mr. Sharp has tested all of these recipes many times and advocates the use of the Spice Island products as producing the best flavor in his recipes. It is a very hot pepper and must be used with discretion.

NEPAL CHILI SAUCE

- 6 lbs. garden ripe tomatoes
- 4 green peppers (sweet)
- 1 large red pepper (sweet)
- 1 1/2 lbs. red onions

A TIGHTS CASE . . . Our ladies, always quick to spot a trend, see something new in tights with a built-in girdle top to minimize tummy.

- 2 lbs. tart apples
- 1 lb. or 2 1/2 cups brown sugar
- 1 pt. red wine vinegar
- 2 level tablespoons salt
- 1 tsp. dry mustard (Colemans or Spice Island)
- Pinch of curry powder
- 1 tsp. celery seed
- 1/2 tsp. ground cloves
- 1/2 tsp. allspice
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 tsp. Nepal pepper

Method: Scald tomatoes, peel and remove seeds. Chop fine. Peel apples, chop fine. Peel off outer layer of onions, chop fine. Remove seeds and stem from peppers, chop fine. Place all ingredients on fire, cook for two hours until thick and transparent. As it cooks add 1 1/2 cups of cider vinegar. Pour in hot sterilized jars and seal immediately. Store for two weeks to ripen.

ALTHOUGH Mrs. Sharp confines her canning to fruits and jellies she tried this cucumber pickle this fall and found it to be delicate and crisp.

DANISH CUCUMBER PICKLES

(8 pints)

Select 16 long thin cucumbers. Peel them and cut into quarters lengthwise. Then cut into half crosswise. Remove seeds and discard. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup salt and allow to stand overnight in a crock or bowl.

Boil together 1 quart white vinegar, 2 tbs. salt, 2 tsp. mustard seed, 1/2 tsp. black pepper corns, and 5 cups sugar. Drain the cucumbers and pack in hot sterilized pint jars. Into each jar put 1 chili pepper, and a sprig of fresh dill (if fresh dill is not available use instead 1 tbs. dill seed while cooking brine). Fill each jar with boiling brine and seal immediately. These pickles too must stand for a few weeks in order to reach full maturity.

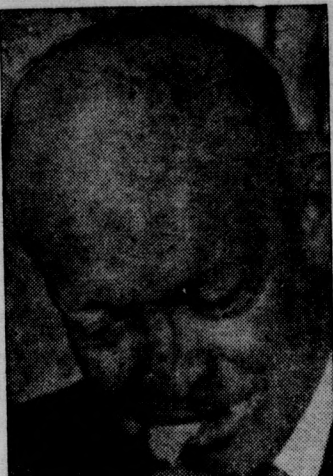

MR. SHARP, a young 75, has lived in this area for 38 years. He has long been associated with newspaper work and at one time was the editor of this paper. Although he has retired he says he finds it hard to stay away.

You know the old saw about ink in the veins of every newspaper man. I believe that Mrs. Sharp too has a little in her veins. She used to delight in working in the printing room when the paper was going to bed. Many are the nights that she stayed up into the early hours of dawn assembling and folding the papers in preparation for delivery.

These two have worked as a team for 47 years and see no reason to change at this late date. In addition to their canning hobby they have taken up furniture refinishing together, and although it is hard and messy work, the results warrant their many hours of labor.

They are friendly and warm people who need to be busy. Next time you see a tall merry looking man with a shock of white hair and a bright red or green fedora, stop and say "Hello, Leo!"

CAMPAIGNER . . . That's the way the cookie crumbles might be the way President Eisenhower feels. He's shown during a GOP coffee hour in Chicago.
